

Pet Resort and Kennel

Problem

Large-scale kennels with hundreds of animals in daily boarding and long-term care led to a host of conditions, including pet odor, irritation of eyes, kennel cough, and dog dander. In addition, due to the number of animals, kennel odors were strong, posing a threat and high potential for bacteria and virus growth and unhealthy conditions for staff.

Pyure Solution

A site assessment was conducted, and the specified solution was to install a Pyure HRC06™ Air Curtain in the facility, which includes a pet hospital. The purifier was mounted in a strategic location to maximize its impact on visiting pet owners.

Outcome

- Fresh air environment when entering the multi-functional facilities
- Odor reduction minimized the stress in the boarded animals

The veterinarian-owned facility has raised the bar for pet owners in the community. With the new normal of odor elimination, competing facilities now recognize that professional boarding now has a healthy, clean air approach. The existing facility has now expanded and looks to a bright future.
